

Health Situation

in the
South-East Asia Region
2001–2007

Contents

List of tables	v
List of figures	vii
List of annex tables	ix
Acronyms and abbreviations	x
Foreword	xv
Regional health situation at a glance	xvii
Introduction	xxi
1. Major health determinants and general morbidity and mortality	1
Demographic trends	1
Population structure	3
Socioeconomic trends	9
Globalization, trade and health	12
Gender, women and health	16
General morbidity and mortality	18
2. Strengthening health systems	21
Addressing public health	21
Revitalizing primary health care	23
Increasing quantity and quality of health workforce	27
Continuing journey in essential and traditional medicines	32
Aiming at universal coverage in health financing	36
Making national health information systems effective	40
Maintaining the leadership and governance role of the health sector	42
Implementing the key regional health research strategies	45
Building capacity in health promotion	48
3. Promoting a healthy life-course	55
Addressing the challenges in reproductive health	55
Dealing with malnutrition through a life-course approach	62
Life-long protection through vaccination	67
Making the first five years healthy, happy and safe	76
Increasing sensitivity to adolescents' needs	85
Promoting active and healthy ageing	93

4. Towards a healthy environment	95
Taking up the challenges in climate change and human health	95
Ensuring safety and adequacy in water supply and sanitation	99
Controlling occupational hazards	102
Improving the efficiency and effectiveness of the countries' food control systems	105
Preventing exposure to toxic and hazardous chemicals	108
Preventing environmental health risks to children	111
Addressing the vulnerability of populations in the Region to emergencies ...	111
5. Tackling risk factors and preventing noncommunicable diseases	117
Tackling risk factors for major noncommunicable diseases	118
Prioritizing cost-effective interventions to prevent cardiovascular diseases	125
Increasing access to preventing, detecting and treating cancer	126
Intervening to prevent and treat diabetes mellitus and its complications	128
Increasing capacity of Member States to prevent and control noncommunicable diseases	131
Regional Framework for Prevention and Control of Noncommunicable Diseases	132
Meeting the mental health needs of the communities	132
Increasing national capacities for injury prevention	134
Preventing and controlling thalassaemia	139
6. Preventing, controlling, eliminating and eradicating communicable diseases	141
Promoting health security in the Region	141
Integrating prevention and control of acute diarrhoea and respiratory infections	145
Implementing the new Stop TB Strategy	147
Strengthening intersectoral activities and promoting community participation in malaria control	153
Controlling epidemics and scaling up services for HIV/AIDS	156
Aiming to reverse the rising trend of dengue	164
Preventing and containing chikungunya	166
Sustaining control activities in leprosy	167
Building up to elimination of visceral leishmaniasis	170
Eliminating and eradicating yaws	176
Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome (SARS)	177
Collaborating in avian influenza prevention, control and research	178
Preventing and controlling rabies	179
Annex tables	181
References	194
Definitions	201